

The Arlington Bike Advisory Committee invites you to:

Crossing Lynn Street and Lee Highway: How Can We Make It Safer for Cyclists and Pedestrians?

On Monday, September 12, 2011, the Arlington Bicycle Advisory Committee (ABAC) will host a short site visit and discussion about one of Arlington's most problematic intersections. Join us afterwards at the nearby Continental lounge for drinks and a chance to learn more about the ABAC and how you can help make Arlington a better place for cyclists.

What: Site visit to the intersection of Lee Highway, the Custis Trail, and Lynn Street. Arlington County staff will be on hand to explain and discuss future plans to improve the intersection.

Who: Everyone! Especially cyclists, pedestrians, cyclist wannabes, planners and drivers who want to understand why this intersection is so challenging.

When & Where: Monday, September 12, 2011 ~ 6:30 PM at Gateway Park. Meet at the northeast corner of the park. Around 7:15 we'll move to the Continental (across Lee Highway at North Moore Street).

For more info about this meeting, contact Mark Blacknell, chair of the Arlington Bicycle Advisory Committee, at mb@blacknell.com. For general information about cycling in Arlington, visit BikeArlington.com